Director's

Now in our fourth year, I am extremely proud of what we have been able to achieve at FINEPRINT co in such a short period of time. Born from the idea of making great art accessible and affordable, FINEPRINT co has evolved to represent something much more significant than this as we continue to challenge ourselves as producers of art, and as we continue to work tirelessly to not only meet but exceed the expectations of our customers.

Art is subjective and how we recognise and respond to it often varies greatly from person to person. So often it is an almost impossible task for people to find a piece of art that they truly resonate with, and thus for many, the process of finding and purchasing art has become overwhelming and exhausting. At FINEPRINT co we work closely with each customer to streamline this experience to ensure you find a quality piece of art which perfectly matches your own unique set of criteria.

This year's Colour Collection showcases an impressive selection of new prints and best sellers highlighting the Pantone Colour of the Year, Classic Blue, alongside colours featured in the 2020 Dulux Colour Forecast. From homeowners seeking to fill a bare wall in their living room, to large scale international and Australian based clients including hotels, resorts and aged care facilities, we truly have something to match the taste and budget of all of our customers.

Designed by our in-house team of artists, the Open Edition print range boldly exhibits this year's featured colours and styles, and represents a cost-effective solution for any home or project space.
For customers seeking something less stylised, our range of Photographic Edition and Artist Edition prints showcase elegant and exciting works by talented emerging and established artists.

Through Gallery One, we have also been lucky enough to forge long-standing relationships with some of Australia's leading artists such as David Bromley, Kathrin Longhurst and Goompi Ugerabah. From these collaborations we have been able to produce a series of Limited Edition prints, working closely with the artist to ensure reproductions are as close to the original artworks as possible.

Our 2020 Colour Collection has been carefully curated by our dedicated team at FINEPRINT co, and I truly believe it to be our most exceptional catalogue of work to date. From the entire FINEPRINT co team, we would like to personally thank you for your ongoing support and we look forward to our upcoming advances and future endeavours together.

Stepping into the new decade, 2020 represents a year to reflect on perhaps the most versatile and dependable colour hue of the last 100 years – Classic Blue. Timeless and enduring, the hue is elegant in its simplicity, and fosters a sense of trust and resilience as a stable foundation on which we can herald a new era.

Instilling a sense of peace and tranquility, Classic Blue offers refuge and provides clarity in today's world where advancements in technology outpace the human ability of comprehension. Reminiscent of the cloudless evening sky, Classic Blue represents a multitude of possibilities, allowing us to re-centre our thoughts while simultaneously encouraging us to think more deeply by looking beyond our existing scope of knowledge.

With the continued popularity of earthy colours, textures and materials in interior design, artworks featuring Classic Blue are expected to be in high demand this year as the hue evokes an association with the sky at dusk and gentle waves of the ocean, and strikes a perfect contrast against earthy beiges and browns.

To complement Classic Blue, secondary colours include a palette of greys and cool blues, accompanied by a variety of beiges and browns. We look forward to showcasing a series of popular prints from our FINEPRINT co artists, representative of the colour of the year, Classic Blue.

FINEPRINT co takes incredible care in selecting work by some of Australia's most talented emerging artists for our Artist Edition range and the 2020 collection is no different, focusing on works by contemporary female artists. Representing a broad range of techniques and styles, each artist in this year's collection brings their own distinct character to their works.

Featured artworks recognise the 2020 colour of the year, Classic Blue and other accompanying colours. Utilising these raw and striking colour palettes, these Artist Edition prints make a statement and command your attention.

Artist Edition prints are available in five sizes and are produced on 310GSM fine art etching paper or 260GSM Satin Silk Photographic Paper using museum quality archival pigment inks. The Artist Edition prints come with standard framing options of black, white and scandi. Bespoke framing options are also available.

Erin Rigney

A beach girl, landlocked in the heart of the Colorado Rockies, Erin Rigney's encaustic Shellscape Collection is an exploration of the atmospheric designs in shells and the unsung beauty that washes up upon coastlines.

"Fascinated by the variations of patterns and abstractions in nature, these paintings focus on shells and their oceanic alchemy. Like each of us, the shells are imperfect yet stunning in their individuality. My Shellscapes are often inspired by fragments of shells therefore I intentionally strive to design my paintings so there are multiple orientations in which they can be viewed. I desire to give collectors an opportunity to personally experience each perspective therefore expanding their own perceptions."

Jane Hoggard

Jane's work takes a lighthearted view of traditional genre – still life, landscapes, abstraction and assemblages. Working in focused bursts reflects Jane's personality, a busy family life and an appreciation of the environment in Northern NSW where she lives.

Evident in her experimentation of subject matter and mixed media compositions reveal hidden depths through multiple layering using collected snippets such as maps and manuals to create authentic, sentimental and curious 'snapshots' in her smaller works alongside acrylic, oil and charcoal in larger works.

Available on Satin Photographic Paper & Rag Paper.

Distant vessels on the night horizon as Brisbane's river festival celebrations build and food markets crammed into ferry stops and bridge alcoves to attract passers-by. Worn jugs and Greek ceramics flash past your eyes if you are moving too fast along Southbank. A large piece where acrylic tepees and charcoal whimsy sit underneath a foreground of still life in oil stick and turps. A piece of lolly land with flying colours. "River Festival" talks about water as a meeting point, a gathering of celebration and jolly good cups of tea. It speaks of how grateful I am, the vibrant colours which are a celebration in themselves, the movement the slight chaos provides and the vessels to ride on or drink from describe festival – for everyone.

"After my morning walk, I let nature's patterns and textures feed my thoughts and art practice. With a general feel and direction in mind I enjoy the creative, spontaneous process of this style of mono printing. For me, this approach seems to have endless the possibilities. Each print has its own unique qualities. Some print images are complete as is, though often I can see ways to enhance each print image with additional mark making and textures, using coloured inks, charcoal, pastels, pencil, collaged and engraved textured papers to finish off each piece".

Available on Satin Photographic Paper & Rag Paper.

"People always use to refer to synchro swimmers as mermaids, so I wanted to incorporate a feminine element to the body of work but drawing it back to basics. Mermaid bones is all about exposing the raw beauty of the human body as well as the feeling you get when in the water. Mermaid bones came to me one day after a morning shoot at Noosa and it all just clicked!"

Penny Prangnell
Photographic Edition

"Growing up on acreage in rural New South Wales, I often spent my afternoons after school wandering around the countryside on push bike or foot, capturing the landscape with my Dad's film tape camera and experimenting with basic video editing programs. Not knowing at the time, this was later to become the foundations for a passion of landscape photography.

After completing high school and with a strong desire to immerse myself in the art and music scene, I relocated to Melbourne to pursue a dream of film. During my studies of a Bachelor of Film & Television at Swinburne University in Melbourne, I became intrigued with the aerial perspective, seizing any opportunity to capture photography from the sky.

Prior to university, my intention was to specialise in video editing and affects, although progressively over the university course I naturally gravitated towards photography, more specifically, landscape photography.

Currently, I capture aerial photography professionally in and around Melbourne. Photographically I am drawn to vibrant colours, patterns and the Earth's landscape from above."

Available on Satin Photographic Paper, Rag Paper & Canvas.

Rachael Baskerville is a photographic artist based in Brisbane, Australia. Her landscape work is light, airy, and minimal with muted tones and an emphasis on negative space and clean composition.

Her collection predominantly features locations on the Australian east coast, however includes a growing number of international destinations.

In her work, she focuses on capturing the soul of the place she is photographing, and the sense of peacefulness and serenity that being in that place brings.

The works in her collection are designed to both stand as an individual piece in their own right, and also to be displayed in multiples to create a larger story.

"I fell in love with the ocean when I was a little girl. As my father would launch me high above an incoming wave, my mother would photograph us from the shore. The still camera was an extension of my mother, the video camera an extension of my father. My youth was involuntarily invested in creative exploration, lost in my medium of photography."

Christopher McVinish Limited Edition

Contemporary realist painter Christopher McVinish is a master of light. It is essentially this element of his work which invites us to see the commonplace as special and suffused with potential.

While McVinish's urban landscapes tell intriguingly oblique narratives revealing contemporary life as a kind of half-remembered dream, his still life paintings convey a reverence for the Dutch Masters and draw attention to how memory and a sense of the divine can be evoked by ordinary objects.

David Bromley
Limited Edition

Born in 1960 in Sheffield, England, David Bromley immigrated to Australia with his family in 1964 and emerged as a painter in the mid 1980s. Since then, he has become one of the most recognisable and innovative artists in Australia. Over the past 20 years David's work has fostered widespread acclaim and notoriety in Australia and internationally. He has exhibited on nearly every continent including Asia, Europe, Africa and America.

In his practice, David has developed distinct themes and unique styles of painting; his best known are the nude female portraits and children's series, but he often explores with various mediums and imagery that portray a certain whimsy. However diverse in his subject matter, David's work is enduringly figurative, daringly coloured and executed with a graphic intention that is striking and memorable.

David's practice has extended to significant work in sculpture, creating in both bronze and resin to bring to life the characters imbued within his paintings.

"Depicting my peoples tribal burn off customs to regenerate the land. We knew the land and knew when to burn off. Sometimes we had to do twice a year. But we made that judgment when necessary. Most of our native growth needs fire to germinate the seeds. With only a minimal amount of water afterwards to start the new growth. This was an important part of our relationship with the land and maintaining sustainability."
- Goompi Ugerabah, 2019

"Water is so important. It was part of the creation, combining with the earth and sun to bring life. After we burn off the land we need the rainwater to begin regrowth. Our bodies need water to live. Saltwater and freshwater always having an abundance of life which is food that we eat. The artwork represents water from natural springs, rain water and saltwater."
